Justice, justice
shall you pursue,
That you may live in
your land.

Love your neighbor as yourself;

Hate not your brother in your heart.

If a stranger
sojourns with you,
He shall be as the
native among you;

You shall love him as yourself,
For you were strangers in the land of Egypt.

Have we not all one
Father?

Has not one God
created us?

Why then
do we deal
treacherously,

A man against his brother?
Give of your bread to
the hungry;
Bring the poor that are cast out to your house.

Hate evil and
love what is good,

Yea, establish
justice in the land.
Let justice well up
as water,
And righteousness as a mighty stream;

For
righteousness and justice

Are the foundation of God's throne.

The Lord of hosts is exalted through righteousness,
And God, the Holy One,
is sanctified through
justice.
